Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Clem Whitaker, veteran campaigner, and along with Leone Baxter, founder of "Campaigns Inc., has gazed into the crystal ball and now thinks he is qualified to prophesy next Tuesday's results. From a Democratic party standpoint his forecasts from the crystal sphere are tinged with rose. From the Republican standpoint his predictions are merely humdrum and commonplace. Here they are:

Earl Warren will defeat Culbert L. Olson for governor by a majority of 600,000 votes or better, the biggest gubernatorial landslide in California's history. Mr. Warren will carry at least 55 of the state's 58 counties.

Frederick Houser, the Alhambra Assemblyman, will be elected Lieutenant Governor, defeating the incumbent, Ellis E. Patterson, in one of the biggest upsets of the election.

There's a violent disturbance in the ball as we concentrate on the race for Attorney General, but it looks like Wallace Ware may emerge from the fog as the winner over Senator Bob Kenny.

Proposition No. 1, outlawing hot cargo practices and secondary boycotts for the duration of the war, will be approved by the voters by a smashing majority of 500,- votes.

Proposition No. 4, repealing the State Income Tax, will be approved by a smashing majority of 500,!-000 or better.

A heavily pro-war, pro-Warren Legislature will be elected, bringing defeat to a majority of the Olson legislators on the General Election ballot.

Republicans will win control of a majority of California's seats in Congress.

And between 50 and 55 per cent of the registered voters will go to the polls, as compared to 47 per cent at the primary.

That, fellow citizens, is a preview of what you'll read in your newspapers on the day after election—unless the crystal ball has tricked us. If you're inclined to be reckless, you can even bet money on it!

Well, that's Clem Whitaker's election forecast, but let no man but the most reckless gamble on his predictions. He is probably right, but election gambling money should purchase war bonds this year. Still more important is it that the 50 to 55 per cent of the registered voters, who are going to vote should turn out and persuade their neighbors, the 45 to 50 per cent that are not going to vote, according to Whitaker, to go to the polls and ruin that prophecy. The boys in the Solomons, in Egypt and other farflung battle fronts are fighting to preserve a democracy which only about half the voters back home are interested in preserving, if that forecast turns out to be true. It is patriotic to go to the polls and vote.

CIVIC CLUB PLANS TO AID RED CROSS PROGRAM FOR CAMP

A special meeting of the Nevada City Civic Club will be held on November 12th to consider several matters of importance, among them being the question of active participation in the Red Cross program for the comfort of Camp Beale soldiers. All members are urgently invited to attend.

District Attorney elect, H. Ward Sheldon was the speaker at the October meeting of the Nevada City Woman's Civic Club held at the Grammar School on October 22. Mr. Sheldon explained many of the amendments appearing on the November ballot and thereby cleared many of the questions in the minds of the listeners.

Displaced Miners Show Preference For Lava Cap

Manager Fred Maloy of the federal employment office in Grass Valley, which supervises the transferring of displaced Nevada County gold miners to new jobs in strategic metal mines, reports the Lava Cap properties here and the Grey Eagle copper mine in Happy Camp are preferred by those who must accept other employment.

Approximately 200 of the men who were laid off by the gold mining companies registered at the employment office, Maloy stated. Those preferring to work at the Lava Cap were referred to Charles Gibson, Lava Cap employment manager, who has an office in the employment building. The Lava Cap is giving employment to men who have families or home ties in the communities of Nevada City and Grass Valley.

The employment manager stated about 75 per cent of the men who registered in his office after they lost their jobs in the gold mines have been placed in essential mineral mines.

Maloy said the large majority of miners formerly employed in the gold mines realize their services are needed in the war effort and are making no complaint about being sent to various parts of the west in copper, tungsten, quicksilver, manganese, lead and other strategic mines.

Illustrating the dire need for men in the essential mining industry, Maloy pointed out the Grass Valley employment office has requests for 50 men at the Grey Eagle Mine, 20 miners and 50 muckers in a Hollister quicksilver mine, 60 miners and 50 muckers at a Holden, Wash., copper mine, 25 miners, eight mucking machine operators and various other mine employees at Bishop, Calif., 15 muckers at a lime mine near Sonora, 10 muckers at a Copperopolis copper mine, 10 quicksilver mines in Lake County, 110 muckers and 90 miners at a lead and zinc mine in Pioche, Nev., 150 miners at Kimberley, Nev., 25 tungsten miners at Mill City, Nev., 10 miners for a manganese property near Livermore, 50 muckers for a manganese mine near Livermore.

In addition, an unlimited number of men can be used in Butte and Arizona copper mines. A number of Nevada County miners returned to Butte and Arizona to work, Malloy stated. These miners were formerly employed in the Montana and Arizona mines.

Recommendations To Voters On Ballot Measures

The Nevada City Nugget herewith submits its recommendations on the eighteen measures which will be submitted to voters at Tuesday's election:

No. 1 Hot Cargo and Secondary Boycott. VOTE YES. The legislature overwhelmingly passed this enactment twice, the last time over Olson's veto. The bill provides that for the duration of the war, labor racketeers shall not be able to interfere with the war effort. Many states have this act on their statute booys permanently to clip the power of labor czars to injure innocent third parties.

No. 2. Annual Legislative Sessions and Budgets. VOTE YES. California has grown to be a big state. The state's business is now big business, ranking with that of New York and Pennsylvania. It is high time the budget was acted upon annually instead of biennially.

No. 3. Basic Science Act. VOTE YES. This act will compel all those who practice the art of healing minds and bodies of human beings in California to master the sciences pertaining thereto. It would no longer be possible to take a six months course in some quack school and go out to dupe and defraud the credulous and ignorant concerning their bodily and mental ills. The basic sciences as defined in the act consist of physiology, anatomy, biochemistry, bacteriology and pathology. A lot of ersatz doctors, grown fat and rich in sheering human sheep, are yelling their heads off in fear this measure. We repeat, VOTE YES.

No. 4.To repeal the State's Personal Income Tax. VOTE YES. The state never had so much cash in its treasury as it has today. The federal government's war taxes are going to reach deep into the jeans of every citizen. Your Uncle Sam needs money desperately, your state does not. Why pay taxes merely to swell California's huge surplus?

No. 5. Compensation of Legislative Members Increased. VOTE YES. You can't expect to hire a good legislator for $100 per month. If you wish to attract able men to seek jobs in the state assembly or senate, you will have to abolish the old hoss and buggy wages and pay them a decent salary.

No. 6. Establishment of a Board of Forestry, VOTE YES. The old system is breaking down. This measure takes the management of state forests out of politics. If passed no governor in the future could make this service a catchall for political hangers-on whose pre-election services he felt he must reward.

No. 7. Taxation of Insurance Companies. VOTE YES. This is an iniative act that merely rectifies an injustice now done certain insurance companies which do not own real estate.

No 8.. Restricting Use of Fish and Game Funds. VOTE YES. Under the present law the Fish and Game Board can spend its money for almost anything desired. This measure will put limits on its spending powers.

No. 9. Compensation of Specified State Officers May Be Changed During Their Term of Office. VOTE NO. The general rule, state and federal, throughout this country has been that no elected officer should have his salary raised during his term of office. For obvious reasons it is a mighty good rule. It ought not to be changed.

No. 10. Reorganization of Building and Loan Associations. VOTE YES. This measure provides the quickest and best means of reorganizing the Pacific States Loan and Investment company, for three years the whipping boy of the Olson administration. It now requires an act by the people to relieve the distress of its 40,000 stockholders. If you were one of the stockholders, bedeviled first by sharp shooters in the company management, and second, by bushwhackers of the state administration, you, too, would ask for relief.

No. 11. Regulating Boxing and Wrestling Matches. VOTE NO. This act is one to prolong heavy weight bouts in California, from 12 to 15 rounds. They are long enough now.

No. 12. To Permit School Districts, Fifth and Sixth Class Cities, to Acquire Stock in Municipal Water Companies. VOTE YES. The act merely authorizes school districts to do their share in promotion of municipal water systems and to benefit therefrom.

No. 13. Board of Equalization Revamping. VOTE YES. This act reapportions the Board of Equalization districts, making five instead of four. Under the present system, there are four districts, and four members of the board chosen by the people. The fifth member is, ex-officio, the state comproller. At times this official receives scant courtesy, elected members treating him with disdain. The new plan would cure all that and modernize an outgrown system inaugurated in 1879.

No. 14. Rates of Interest on Loans and Judgments. VOTE NO. This is another of those so-called poor debtor's laws, which does little for the poor debtors and tends to afford

J.M. Hadley Wills Local Elks $2,000

News was received here today that the late John M. Hadley, former Nevada City hardware merchant who died in Oakland recently, willed $2,-000 to the Nevada City Elks Lodge, of which he was an honorary life member and past exalted ruler.

In addition, Hadley willed $500 to Mrs. Lulu Jones of Nevada City.

Although Hadley left Nevada City about 25 years ago, he always maintained an interest in this community and each year visited old acquaintances here. Hadley was a young man when he came to Nevada City. He worked for George E. Turner and later became Turner's partner in a hardware business at the present site of the Elks Building.

The hardware business, after Turner's death and a short continuance of the store by Hadley and Turner's son was sold to a group of Nevada Cityans, including C. R. Murchie. The store was renamed the Nevada City Hardware and subsequently was sold to the Alpha Stores, Ltd.

Hadley moved from Nevada City following the death of his wife, whose maiden name was Alice Turner.

The $2,000 he willed to the local Elks Lodge was in appreciation of the fine reception he was always accorded here on visits and for the bestowing of the life membership honor upon him several ears ago by the local organization.

ARMY RECRUITS MILITARY POLICE IN NEVADA CITY

An extensive recruiting drive for men of 18 and 19 years for the 754th Military Police Battalion will begin in Nevada City in the near future, it was announced yesterday by Lt. Col. Harry T. Hanover, commanding that organization.

The 854th Military Police, a Service of Supply organization, probably has the most varied of duties of the armed forces. Men enlisting have an opportunity to study various trades, such as mechanics, radio, motor transportation, as well as being stationed close to their homes.

The men recruited in this drive will be sworn in officially on November 11, Armistice Day, it was learned.

An effort is being made with local education officials to grant some kind of opportunity for high school seniors to graduate while serving with the armed forces.

"We are interested only in 18 and 19 year old men," Lt. Col. Hanover said. "They must be especially qualified. This war is serious business, and I know every young man will want to do his part."

The Military Police plan to bring a display of guns, arctic equipment and an armored car to Nevada City and Grass Valley to give the prospective recruits and the public an idea of what the MPs do.

The War Department only recently amended regulations to permit 19 and 18 years old men the opportunity of enlisting in the branch of service they desire. The Military Police are generally regarded as having the biggest varieties of duties of the Army. This includes everything from traffic control—to prisoner of war escort—to the guarding of vital military installations.

SPANISH MINE BARYTE OUTPUT

The Spanish Mine near Washington has had a varying career as a gold producer but now operations are confined strictly to the production of barytes, which has many uses in the war effort.

Many tons of the barytes are trucked each day to Stockton for reduction and preparation.

WARREN PLEDGES LODE HIGHWAY BOARD MEMBER

Declaring that the mountain counties of California had long been neglected by state government, Earl Warren, non-partisan candidate for governor, told cheering throngs at Sonora, Angels Camp, San Andreas, Jackson and other Mother Lode towns last Saturday, "You have never had representation on the State Highway Commission as far as I can determine. One of my first acts as governor would be the appointment of a representative from this area on the State Highway Commission."

Despite the fact that he was behind two hours in schedule due to the Los Angeles train being late at Modesto, hundreds of men, woman and children from all walks of life waited on the streets of the Mother Lode towns in order to hear Warren discuss the issues of his campaigns for governor.

The attorney-general, who was described by his long time friend, Leo Carrillo, movie star, who accompanied him on the trip, as, "The next governor of California," told the people of the Mother Lode that the mountain counties of California should now be producing critical war minerals to aid the nation's war effort and would have been, if a sympathetic state administration had paid an attention to the needs of the people in the smaller counties.

Warren said he considered his visit to the Mother Lode one of the most important campaign tours he has made. He declared:

"California's great timber and mining belt, including the historic Mother Lode, offers an opportunity not only during the war, in the production of timber and badly needed war materials, but after the war. Gold mining, metallic and non-metallic mining, together with wise development of our timber resources, should go a long way to relieve post-war unemployment in California.

"Hundreds of thousands of persons, after the war, can and should find profitable employment in the great undeveloped mountain counties of California, with proper development by private industry under the sound state leadership."

In addition to Carrilo, Warren was accompanied by Senator Jesse M. Mayo of Calaveras County and Justus F. Craemer, president of the California Railroad Commission.

STATE CLINICS INTERVIEW 40 IN NEVADA COUNTY

Mobile state mental hygiene clinics interviewed 40 problem children in Nevada County last year, Dr. F. O. Butler, acting director of institutions announced today.

A total of 569 problem children were interviewed in 21 Northern California counties. Dr. Butler said at least 250 otherwise eventually would have appeared in youth correction and mental institutions.

Dr. Butler said: "We are trying to keep children from growing up into material for mental hospitals and correctional schools. Youth correctional schools are getting fewer inmates from 21 counties our clinics serstate, by population."

TAHOE FOREST FIRE CREWS ON ALERT

In view of the particularly hazardous fire weather, Fire Chief Marc Edmonds has ordered the entire fire organization of the Tahoe National Forest on the alert.

Edmonds pointed out that the accumulation of dry grass and leaves aggravated by dry east winds has created a condition comparable with mid-summer fire weather. Many persons are of the opinion that due to fall weather that restrictions on burning and smoking have been lifted, and as a result several fires have been caused by illegal burning. Edmonds states that fire regulations will be in force on the Tahoe forest until formally lifted through publication in the press.

Caught in the Riffles

Here's what Walter Winchell writes regarding Robert Edward Edmondson, 71, one of 28 men indicted by the federal government for conspiring against this country.

"When the Department of Justice agents raided Robert Edward Edmondson's place they confiscated all his papers. Among them were Edmondson's plans for the day "revolution comes.' He hoped to be president of the U. S. and his choice for Attorney-General would be John B. Wise, Jr., of New York—Edmondson's lawyer."

Edmondson lived for the past two years in Grass Valley and it was at his home there he was arrested. The thought in our mind is that we would rather have a president from our home county selected under different circumstances—the good old American ballot way.

Bud Kyle has taken over the meat market at the '49er Market in Grass Valley and will operate it in conjunction with the meat department in the Cardinal Store here. The Secramento Bee, seeking to bolster a war riddled staff, reached into Nevada County to obtain a man for its copy desk. The newspaperman is Robert Deward, night editor of The Morning Union. Deward covered the Nevada City beat on various occasions for his paper and is well known and well liked in this city. Deward assumes his new position on November 1st. The bay area newspapers and mail arrived in Nevada City three hours late today but the local postoffice was given no reason for the delay.

Fred Moran of Willow Valley sat in a rocking chair at his home contentedly reading a newspaper the other night. Suddenly he heard the crash of a broken window and at the same time a rock about as big as a man's fist hit him alongside the head.

Moran has a suspicion regarding the man responsible for the episode but because of insufficient evidence the authorities have been unable to make an arrest.

ARTILLERYMEN GUESTS AT ELKS DANCE SAT. NIGHT

The Elks club is giving a Hallowe'en dance Saturday night at the Elks lodge in honor of 100 members of the Field Artillery of Camp Beale, who will be guests. Refreshments in charge of the Business and Professional Women's club will be served at midnight. Girls of high school age are especially invited in order that the artillermen may have many charming partners in the gay event.

FUNERAL RITES HELD HERE FOR ADA MASTERSON

Final rites were held at the Holmes Funeral Home here today for Mrs. Ada Lillian Masterson, 53, resident of this community for the past 12 years who died Monday afternoon. Rev. Cedric Porter officiated at the rites. The Neighbors of the Woodcraft Lodge of this city conducted services at the Pine Grove Cemetery.

Mrs. Masterson was the wife of William Masterson, Sr., local miner, and the mother of Clifford and William Masterson and Mrs. Florence Sears, who resides in Vallejo. Mrs. Sears and her husband came here for the funeral.

The deceased was a native of Davenport, Cornwall. She came to the United States 16 years ago and 12 years ago came with her family to Nevada City to reside.

Mrs. Masterson was well known here for her excellent Cornish pasties.

LABOR AND "HOT CARGO"

The bleak story of the fate of all men and women of the ranks of labor in the occupied countries of Europe—the dissolution of their unions, their regimentation into gangs of slaves without voice as to where they will work, what they will do, what they will be paid, what hours they will put in—highlights a hard truth of war:

The working class of any nation is the class that suffers most severely and universally under military defeat and occupation. The industrialists, under restrictions, may be allowed to continue his business with some small voice in its affairs. The man of wealth may be permitted to retain enough to live comfortably. But the workers are deprived of every basic right. They cannot organize; they cannot strike; they cannot assemble; they cannot speak for themselves; they are slaves. No group has a greater stake in victory than the men and women of organized labor.

Therefore it is paradoxical that a minority of men with labor influence have fostered and placed upon next Tuesday's ballot a referendum measure, Proposition One, to prevent the Hot Cargo and Secondary Boycott law from going into effect. Even in normal times of peace, many responsible labor leaders have regarded those extreme labor weapons as dubious trouble-makers. In war-time, the use of such weapons may—and has already, in given instances—interfered with the production. shipping and delivery of the most vital of war weapons and materials.

In passing the Hot Cargo and Secondary Boycott law, the California legislature met the sole valid objection that even a labor extremist could raise against it — the objection that a labor weapon yeilded in war-time might not be returned to labor after the war. The law specifically provides that it shall have force only until May 1, 1943, or until the war emergency period is over.

Thinking, patriotic union men have nothing to lose, and everything to gain, by voting Yes on Proposition One. This sound, reasoned law to promote uninterrupted peak production in war industries is a law enacted in the best interests of all who labor. For if America should lose this war, American Labor would lose everything it has ever won.

THE MORALE OF MAIN STREET

A war cannot be fought without losses. Heavy losses. There are losses of fighting ships and men. Many great merchant ships have been built, loaded with valuable cargo, manned and sent to sea—only to go down under stealthy submarine attack. But more ships are built than are sunk: and men rescued from sinkings rest up, return to duty, and ship out again. The losses are made up; the people strive on toward victory.

Men also suffer losses, grevious in their personal lives, on the home front of life—and do not whimper. Business is up—and business is booming, we hear and read. But this is not true of thousands of businesses and business men—particularly men who run small individual businesses. The great auto industry is fully engaged in war. But the businesses in which they have invested all their savings and years of labor have been swept away for tens of thousands of auto dealers. Their retail industry has fallen by more than 75 per cent. There is a war depression in lumber and building materials; in farm implements.

Along every Main Street are such casualties of private hopes and strivings. Multiplied ten thousand fold is the case of the man who has worked and saved to establish and run his own service station, and now faces business ruin because of gas and tire rationing. Yet you rarely if ever can detect a hint of resentment against fate in the manner of the man who sells you gas and offers earnest advice on ways to make your worn tires last linger. He, too, knows the war cannot be fought without losses. He takes the blows that fall to his lot without backing up a step. His is the morale of Main Street.

CAST YOUR BALLOT

Elections in wartime often fade into the background, their publicity overshadowed by war news.

Because of this, many voters are prone to let election day slide by without visiting the polls and exercising their right to have a say in the government.

Though politically at odds, the leaders of the two great political parties—Republican Joseph W. Martin, Jr., and Demcrat Edward J. Flynn—see eye to eye on one issue, the fact that every voter should cast a ballot November 3.

The two men have issued a joint statement calling upon every person entitled to do so to go to the polls on election day. In their words "This election should represent the judgment of our whole citizenry."

There can be no argument on that point. The constitution declares this shall be a government not only of the people and for the people but BY THE PEOPLE. And the only way it can be by the people is if the people themselves make it so—make it so by participating in every election.

Each and every voter should mark the date of November 3 on his calendar as a reminder to himself. The right to vote is a sacred right. See that you exercise that right November 3. Don't forget to vote.

Our fighting men are doing their share. Here at home the least we can do is put 10% of our income in War Bonds for our share in America.

Ten per cent of your income in War Bonds will help to build the planes and tanks that will insure defeat of Hitler and his Axis partners.

WAR IMPOSES HEAVY BURDEN ON NATION'S PRESS

By LEONE BAXTER

In war time, the tremendous load of public responsibility ordinarily carried by the local newspapers is increased a thousand-fold.

Details of the latest draft requirements, rationing orders and dim-out regulations, the new tax levies and the current farm and labor rulings, must be explained and clarified by the public press.

The ponderous administrative grist out of the national seat of government—affecting the lives of 130-000,000 people—depends for success or failure on the press of the nation.

There's a good deal of grumbling about the volume of unimportant and glory grabbing material sent out from the various government propaganda bureaus, but no editor resents the necessity of the big public welfare job that has been laid in his lap.

He only wants to be very sure that what he gets is the real news!

And so do his readers — though Washington seems more concerned with giving the people only the news the censors think is good for them.

The public wants the bad news as well as the good, wants it in its entirety and as quickly as military safety permits.

That is the public's side of it.

There is another side, vastly more significant because it involves American fundamentals and because it recognizes the current news situation is just one of the symptoms of a real national malady.

Just as government controls are being set more and more firmly around business of every kind; just as little business is being annihilated far beyond the necessities of war; just as administrative government is absorbing and taking over industry—the press of the nation is being "frozen" in a new, conformative pattern that is not four square with the freedom assured in the American Bill of Rights.

Incipient in the recent years of peace, a bloodless domestic revolution is in full sway, initiated in Washington and implemented by the war.

Said Dean Carl W. Ackerman of Columbia University concerning the ever encroaching control over the public press: "The object apparently is not to preserve the freedom of the press, but to squeeze it into a new mold, not during the war—but in perpetuity."

Whether it succeeds in "sqeezing into a new mold" other freedoms long considered inalienable, will depend immeasurably on whether it suceeds in doing so with that cornerstone of the Bill of Rights, the freedom of the press.

Readers of newspapers as well as publishers, need to be concerned with this problem.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY BEHIND WARREN GROWS

Four Hundred Thousand Bourbon Votes At Primary Will Show Huge General Election Gain

Attorney General's Strength On Increase As Day For Final Decision Of Voters Nears

The phenomenal primary support of regular Democrats—nearly a half-million of them, according to official tabulation—given Earl Werren, the non-partisan candidate for Governor, promises to mount to an even higher figure at the November general election, present trends indicate.

Democrats in every section of the State have joined the Warren march to the war-time governorship of California under the banner, "Leadership—not Politics."

Warren has pledged full co-operation with President Roosevelt in his win-the-war efforts, and Warren Democrats everywhere point out that the President has himself set an example of non-partisan executive leadership in naming many men of the opposite party to positions of responsibility in his administration.

Gordon H. Garland, Democratic leader and Speaker of the State Assembly, is one of the keynoters urging the election of Earl Warren, as also is Henry Meehan, 10 years a member of the State Assembly, and former Democratic speaker pro-tem of the Lower House, Meehan says:

"Democrats, in electing Warren, will be naming as Governor a better Democrat than his opponent, because Earl Warren's record in public office is one of steadfast adherence to the fundamental principles of the Democratic form of government on which this country was founded."

RESURVEY OF ORDER CLOSING GOLD MINES MAY BE MADE

Congressman Harry L. Englebright of Nevada City announced in Washington yesterday the War Production Board will resurvey the effect of its order closing gold mines.

Englebright said Donald Nelson, WPB chairman, agreed to the action after examining data presented by Errol MacBoyle, chairman of the California State Mining Board and operator of the Idaho-Maryland Mine and Merrill E. Shoup, president of the Golden Circle Corporation of Colorado Springs, Colo.

The data indicated that only a few of the gold miners laid off by the mine closing had reported for work in copper mines, and included a petition from older California gold miners saying they were unfit for other types of mining.

The congressman said they presented to Nelson data to show that only ninety of 3,500 gold miners in California thrown out of work by the order had reported to the United States Employment Service for other work and that only half of the ninety sought employment in copper mines. The remainder went to work in gold mines operated in connection with smelters.

They also presented a petition from 150 California miners urging that they be permitted to work in gold mines, saying they were more than 50 years of age and know nothing of any other work.

Congressman Englebright said Nelson indicated that the mine closing was to furnish labor for copper mines only and was done without thought it might disrupt labor and the economy of small communities.

ENTERTAINS CHOIR MEMBERS

Lloyd Geist, director of the Methodist Church Choir, entertained the members of the choir at a Hallowe-en party following practice last night. The party was at the Geist home on Pine Street.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

LAST Saturday night we were settin' around Jeb Crowell's house, and from upstairs we hear the squawks those Crowell youngsters put up while their Ma was dunkin' 'em in soap and water. Causes Jeb to comment:

"Just shows how times change. Used to be a law here in America that nobody could take a bath without a doctor's prescription!"

Then we got talking about the funny laws some people have put through in this country—like the state where they made it against the law to wake a man up if he's sleeping on the railroad tracks.

"Railroad law, I once heard about," says Basil Strube, the stationmaster, "said when two trains meet at an intersection, neither can proceed until the other one has gone ahead."

"How could that be a law?" asks Pete Swanson. "That just don't make sense."

"Lots of laws don't make sense," says Jeb. "Why just think! We're livin' in a land where most folks hoid for tolerance and understanding. And yet it wasn't so long ago we had a law of Prohibition. Account for that, if you can."

Well, he had us there. Here's America—where we set so much store on seein' the other fellow's point of view—havin' such a law. Now that it's all over, it's hard to realize how people put up with a law like that, even as long as they did.

From where I sit, a man's got every right to enjoy a satisfyin' glass of beer when he wants to quench his thirst. Beer's a friendly drink. It's a drink of moderation, too. And most folks—even the ones that don't drink beer themselves—are tolerant enough, nowadays, to respect the rights of folks who do.

I reckon Jeb was right—we've had some mighty strange laws in this country.

more loopholes for escaping just debts and judgments.

No. 15. Supreme Court and Appellate Court Procedure. VOTE NO. Owing to a typographical error in which the word "transfer" was printed "retransfer", the purpose of this proposed enactment is practically nullified.

No. 16. Decision of Administrative Officers. VOTE NO. This bill which purports to decrease the power of scores of boards and bureaus in California, actually would give them more power. We already have too much bureaucratic government in both federal and state administrations.

No. 17. Entrusting the State Treasurer with Certain State Funds. VOTE YES. No objection has been raised to this measure, which provides that fees collected by certain self-sustaining boards and bureaus could be left in the custody of the state treasurer pending final adjustment by such boards, bureaus or commissions.

No. 18. Reappartionment Commission. VOTE YES. Since one of the ex-officio members of this five-man board was formerly the Surveyor-General, an office now abolished, this measure merely proposes to substitute in his place, the State Controller.

PTA HALLOWE'EN PARTY PLANS ARE COMPLETED

The annual Nevada City Elementary Parent Teachers Association Hallowen'en party will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock at the Elementary School Auditorium. All children of the community are invited. Admission for adults will be ten cents.

In holding the Hallowe'en Party, the PTA plans to cooperate with the Nevada City officers in helping to keep the children off the streets and possibly prevent mischevious acts.

The program will include a grand march with every child in school taking part. There will be hot dogs for young and old, candy, ice cream, chamber of horrors, cider well, hot coffee and a picture show.

Concessions to be conducted by the various classes and their teachers will open right after the conclusion of the program.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation to the many members of the Methodist Church and friends of Nevada City and Grass Valley who made our 25th wedding anniversary such a memorable occasion with flowers, card and lovely gifts.

REV. AND MRS. DAVID RALSTON

ANNUAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE IS MODERN NEED

By JOHN W. DUNLAP

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 29.—(UP)—It is to be hoped that a lack of understanding or prejudice will not bring defeat to Proposition No .2 on the November ballot, a proposal to have annual sessions of the legislature for budget making purposes.

No private business would tolerate a budget practice on a two year basis. The federal government and all governmental agencies operate on a one-year period. Yet the State of California, way back in its early days, wrote into the constitution that the legislature should meet every two years and the practice still stands, much to the disinterest of its welfare.

The business of the state has grown to a quarter billion dollars each year. The fiscal officers who have to disburse this money and operate its budgets are hamstrung by having to predict more than two years ahead, particularly in these days of war and uncertainties.

What is more important, the legislature can give scant attention to a systematic review of these expenditures when it meets only every other year and has such a jammed calendar that only the highlights are covered.

A non-partisan unopposed move put No. 2 on the ballot. It would provide for the legislature to meet for 60 days each year, on the first Monday in March. The annual budget would be submitted during the first five days and no legislative proposal could be adopted within 5 days of the date of its introduction.

Some persons mistakenly believe the less the legislature meets the better, although the members themselves do not help erase this impression with their frequent dilly-dallying and horseplay. Yet the orderly completion of the state's business calls for a change in the antiquated legislative machinery. Congress would fail utterly if it tried to meet every other year. California operates on a smaller scale but the principle is the same.

As for the individual member, it is obviously more sensible to have a lawmaker come to Sacramento for 2 months each year than to hold him here almost six months every other year, then be forced to call a series of special sessions as emergencies arise. Five of these sessions were held in 1940, one early this year. These members are not highly paid and it is a real sacrifice to neglect their private affairs for such long periods, just because the framers of the constitution were coping with a small, sparsely settled state instead of the complex, densely populated California of today.

If there should be a close contest in any of the November election issues, the absentee vote might mean more this year than ever before. There are so many men in the armed forces and defense work away from home that the absentee ballot totals are larger than usual.

The secretary of state, for example, has received something like 4,000 applications for service men for war ballots, and about three quarters of these men are registered voters. Hundreds of others are applying directly to their county clerks for the privilege of voting absentee.

On a small scale, the importance of the absentee vote was demonstrated in Yolo county when Superior Judge John O'Donnell, a former assemblyman named to the bench by Governor Olson, was defeated by District Attorney C. C. McDonald. The score at the end of the supervisors canvass was enough to give McDonald the victory by nine votes. O'Donnell had a court recount but still lost out by seven votes.

Or take the case of Assemblyman John Pelletier, who won his democratic renomination by a landside in August, but lost the Republican bid by 26 votes. Absentees can make a big difference.

Queerest paradox of the November ballot involves Assemblyman Harold Sawallisch of Richmond. He chose to run for district attorney and was defeated by the incumbent. On the same ballot, a Republican and Democrat jousted for Sawallisch's vacancy but disqualified themselves under the state primary law because each lost his own party nomination, although winning the other.

Sawallisch then had himself nominated by his democratic central committee and will be unopposed in November because the Republicans did not name a candidate. So after deserting his job in the primary, he runs unopposed for it in November. Such is politics.

Ration Board Members Disqualified If Personally Concerned With Case

Members of all ration boards are diqualified from acting officially in any matters arising in the administration of ration orders if they personally are concerned or if they have an interest in the board's action by reason of "business connection, relationship by blood, marriage or adoption," Paul M. O'Leary, Deputy Price Administrator in charge of rationing, announced today.

While most rationing regulations have contained a similar disqualifying clause, today's ruling, which is contained in Procedural Regulation No. 10, will assure uniformity among rationing boards in applying this policy. Disqualification of individual members from participating in matters in which they have a personal interest is obviously in the public interest as it assures unbiased and unprejudiced approach to rationing problems by boards, officials pointed out.

In addition, the regulation provides that in instances where the board acts favorably on an application made by the disqualified member the application, together with all pertinent records must be forwarded to the state director before the tenth of the following month. This section, which has not been contained in any individual regulation, requires the director to review the decision and confirm, modify, or reverse the action of the local board.
